Petitioners jointly File this WRIT to “REVERSE & RENDER” the Court’s March 30th, 2021, ORDER, which allegedly, but intentionally, diverts attention away from the “ongoing Pattern of the Real Parties-in-Interest to Voluntarily Bankrupt the US Treasury, Under Color of US Congressional Legislation”;

1 That clearly No Party Objected to, nor filed any Motions to Dismiss, therefore Judge Cole, after Judicial Notice & Actual Knowledge of this PENDING NATIONAL SECURITY CRISIS, containing the PATTERN of the multiple FALSE CLAIMS CASES of RECORD, it is apparent that Judge Cole’s impartiality was allegedly compromised by the REAL PARTIES-in-INTEREST.

2 That to Identify USA, ex rel’s: Interest in “the property or transaction that is the subject of Ohio’s lawsuit”, compels Judge Cole, a competent jurist, to recognize said “Pattern of Trillion’s of US Taxpayer’s Funds being Diverted, with No Accountability”, culminating in the valiant instant Litigation by Ohio AG David Yost, his TEAM, and “USA, ex rel”;

NOTICE: Petitioners AGAIN urge AG YOST Intervene in this WRIT, per Duty & Oath of Office, to cease wasting Ohio Taxpayer Funds on the ongoing “Bait & Switch” continually perpetrated by the REAL PARTIES-in-INTEREST;

3 That have proffered irrefutable Documentation to the US Supreme Court (3) times, with “specificity & particularity”, but was Deprived FILING by the same deputy clerk in collusion with Real Parties-in-Interest, therefore Judge Cole’s clerk’s due diligence would have confirmed same, thus Granting Intervention, via “PERMISSIVE INTERVENTION”, under FRCP 24(b);

In Conclusion, the En Banc Panel, after Judicial Notice & Actual Knowledge of this alleged Enterprise, confirmed by USDOJ IG Michael Horowitz’ multiple Criminal Referral’s, including to Administrative Office of US Courts; US Senator’s Orrin Hatch; James Talent; James Inhofe and Mark Kirk, all Acknowledging the Malfeasance/Misfeasance perpetrated upon “USA, ex rel;” to Date.

Wherefore, No Party will be Prejudiced by this En Banc Panel's timely & urgent "Reverse & Render" ORDER, for a TEMPORARY STAY upon the CONGRESS; for the Real Parties-in-Interest to fully cooperate in producing the "Sources & Uses" of the "2009 RECOVERY ACT for INFRASTRUCTURE SHOVEL-READY JOBS", for the Forensic Audit by "BDO USA LLC", with Johanna Ayers of GAO FORENSICS, as GAO Director, DODARO, is conflicted out by his [15 Year Obama Appointment].

The ORDER should also contain that the "Certified Findings of Fact/Conclusions of Proper Disbursements" be proffered to the US Supreme Court upon return from Recess c/o Justice Clarence Thomas; US Congressional Leaders & Minority; including a PROTECTIVE ORDER for Stephen Wallace's PERSON.

Respectfully submitted to En Banc Panel,

Stephen P. Wallace

Pro Se Law

HAINES v. KERNER, ET AL. 404 U.S. 519, 92 S. Ct. 594, 30 L. Ed. 2d 652. Whatever may be the limits on the scope of inquiry of courts into the internal administration of prisons, allegations such as those asserted by petitioner, however inartfully pleaded, are sufficient to call for the opportunity to offer supporting evidence. We cannot say with assurance that under the allegations of the pro se complaint, which we hold to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers, it appears "beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief." Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 45-46 (1957). See Dioguardi v. Durning, 139 F.2d 774 (CA2 1944).

ESTELLE, CORRECTIONS DIRECTOR, ET AL. v. GAMBLE 29 U.S. 97, 97 S. Ct. 285, 50 L. Ed. 2d 251. We now consider whether respondent's complaint states a cognizable 1983 claim. The handwritten pro se document is to be liberally construed. As the Court unanimously held in Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972), a pro se complaint, "however inartfully pleaded," must be held to "less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers" and can only be dismissed for failure to state a claim if it appears "beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief." Id., at 520-521, quoting Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 45-46 (1957).

WILLIAM MCNEIL, PETITIONER v. UNITED STATES 113 S. Ct. 1980, 124 L. Ed. 2d 21, 61 U.S.L.W. 4468. Moreover, given the clarity of the statutory text, it is certainly not a "trap for the unwary." It is no doubt true that there are cases in which a litigant proceeding without counsel may make a fatal procedural error, but the risk that a lawyer will be unable to understand the exhaustion requirement is virtually nonexistent. Our rules of procedure are based on the assumption that litigation is normally conducted by lawyers. While we have insisted that the pleadings prepared by prisoners who do not have access to counsel be liberally construed, see Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 106 (1976), and have held that some procedural rules must give way because of the unique circumstance of incarceration, see Houston v. Lack, 487 U.S. 266 (1988) (pro se prisoner's notice of appeal deemed filed at time of delivery to prison authorities), we have never suggested that procedural rules in ordinary civil litigation should be interpreted so as to excuse mistakes by those who proceed without counsel. As we have noted before, "in the long run, experience teaches that strict adherence to the procedural requirements specified by the legislature is the best guarantee of evenhanded administration of the law." Mohasco Corp. v. Silver, 447 U.S. 807, 826 (1980).

BALDWIN COUNTY WELCOME CENTER v. BROWN 466 U.S. 147, 104 S. Ct. 1723, 80 L. Ed. 2d 196, 52 U.S.L.W. 3751. Rule 8(f) provides that "pleadings shall be so construed as to do substantial justice." We frequently have stated that pro se pleadings are to be given a liberal construction.

HUGHES v. ROWE ET AL. 449 U.S. 5, 101 S. Ct. 173, 66 L. Ed. 2d 163, 49 U.S.L.W. 3346. Petitioner's complaint, like most prisoner complaints filed in the Northern District of Illinois, was not prepared by counsel. It is settled law that the allegations of such a complaint, "however inartfully pleaded" are held "to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers, see Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520 (1972). See also Maclin v. Paulson, 627 F.2d 83, 86 (CA7 1980); French v. Heyne, 547 F.2d 994, 996 (CA7 1976). Such a complaint should not be dismissed for failure to state a claim unless it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief. Haines, supra, at 520-521. And, of course, the allegations of the complaint are generally taken as true for purposes of a motion to dismiss. Cruz v. Beto, 405 U.S. 319, 322 (1972).

SOTOMAYOR, J., dissenting

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

No. 19A905

CHAD WOLF, ACTING SECRETARY OF HOMELAND
SECURITY, ET AL. v. COOK COUNTY,
ILLINOIS, ET AL.

ON APPLICATION FOR STAY

[February 21, 2020]

The application for stay presented to JUSTICE KAVANAUGH and by him referred to the Court is granted, and the District Court's October 14, 2019 order granting a preliminary injunction is stayed pending disposition of the Government's appeal in the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit and disposition of the Government's petition for a writ of certiorari, if such writ is timely sought. Should the petition for a writ of certiorari be denied, this stay shall terminate automatically. In the event the petition for a writ of certiorari is granted, the stay shall terminate upon the sending down of the judgment of this Court.

JUSTICE GINSBURG, JUSTICE BREYER, and JUSTICE KAGAN would deny the application.

JUSTICE SOTOMAYOR, dissenting from the grant of stay.

Today's decision follows a now-familiar pattern. The Government seeks emergency relief from this Court, asking it to grant a stay where two lower courts have not. The Government insists—even though review in a court of appeals is imminent—that it will suffer irreparable harm if this Court does not grant a stay. And the Court yields.

But this application is perhaps even more concerning than past ones. Just weeks ago, this Court granted a stay of a different decision involving the same administrative rule at issue here, after the Government professed urgency because of the form of relief granted in the prior case—a nationwide injunction. The Government now uses that stay—of a nationwide injunction—to insist that it is entitled to one here. But the injunction in this case is limited to one State, Illinois. The Government cannot state with precision any of the supposed harm that would come from the Illinois-specific injunction, and the Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit has scheduled oral argument for next week. The Government’s professed harm, therefore, boils down to an inability to enforce its immigration goals, possibly in only the immediate term, in one of 50 States. It is hard to say what is more troubling: that the Government would seek this extraordinary relief seemingly as a matter of course, or that the Court would grant it.

This case concerns a provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act that renders inadmissible any noncitizen who “is likely at any time to become a public charge.” 8 U. S. C. §1182(a)(4)(A). The provision instructs immigration officers to consider, “at a minimum,” a person’s “age; health; family status; assets, resources, and financial status; and education and skills” in determining inadmissibility on this “public charge” basis. §1182(a)(4)(B). For the last 20 years, field guidance has defined “public charge” as a person “primarily dependent on the government for subsistence.” 64 Fed. Reg. 28689 (1999) (internal quotation marks omitted). Per that guidance, immigration officers were not to consider non-cash public benefits in deciding whether a noncitizen met that definition.

In August 2019, the Department of Homeland Security issued a regulation that changed this longstanding definition. This new regulation (the public-charge rule) now defines a “public charge” as “an alien who receives one or more designated public benefits for more than 12 months in the aggregate within any 36-month period (such that, for instance, receipt of two benefits in one month counts as two months).” 84 Fed. Reg. 41292, 41295. The regulation also expands the type of benefits that may render a noncitizen inadmissible, including non-cash benefits such as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (formerly food stamps), most forms of Medicaid, and various forms of housing assistance. Ibid.

Several lawsuits followed, one of which reached this Court last month. See Application for Stay of Injunctions in Department of Homeland Security v. New York, No. 19A785 (New York cases). The Government in no small part insisted that it was entitled to a stay because of the scope of relief awarded below: The District Court in the New York cases imposed a nationwide injunction that “rendered effectively academic” the Government’s successful litigation on the public-charge rule elsewhere. Id., at 4. The Government’s unquestionable focus was the scope of that injunction: Its stay application used the word “nationwide” 34 times.

Over the dissent of four Justices, this Court granted the Government’s application for a stay. Department of Homeland Security v. New York, 589 U. S. ____ (2020). Two Justices concurred in the grant of the stay, emphasizing—as the Government did—the “equitable and constitutional questions raised by the rise of nationwide injunctions.” Id., at ____ (GORSUCH, J., concurring in grant of stay) (slip op., at 5). No Member of the Court discussed the application’s merit apart from its challenges to the injunction’s nationwide scope.

In the meantime, other courts considered the public-charge rule, and one—the District Court in this case—ruled much more narrowly. The District Court concluded that the plaintiffs in the case before it were entitled to a preliminary injunction, based on self-described “dry and arguably bloodless” legal analysis. Cook County v. McAleenan, ____ F. Supp. 3d ____, ____, 2019 WL 5110267, *14 (ND Ill., Oct. 14, 2019). But it did not award nationwide relief as the New York court had: It merely prevented the Government from enforcing the public-charge rule in Illinois, where the “‘nearly 100 nonprofit organizations and social and health service providers’” represented by one of the plaintiffs were located. Ibid.

After the District Court declined to stay enforcement of its injunction pending appeal, the Government asked the Seventh Circuit to intervene and stay the injunction itself. On December 23, 2019, the Seventh Circuit declined, and instead set an expedited briefing schedule to ensure prompt consideration of the issue. As part of that expedited schedule, the Seventh Circuit set oral argument for February 26, 2020—five days from now.

Notably, the Government initially chose not to appeal the Seventh Circuit’s decision denying a stay. Instead, while letting the normal appellate process play out in this case, it urged this Court to review a later issued decision granting a nationwide injunction—in no small part because it was a nationwide injunction. Yet now that this Court acceded to that request, the Government wants more: It asks this Court to grant a stay of the District Court’s considered—and considerably narrower—order below.

One might wonder what the trouble is with granting a stay in this case. After all, by granting a stay in the New York cases, the Court effectively has already allowed the Government to enforce the public-charge rule elsewhere—why not Illinois too? But—even putting aside the dissent of four Justices in the New York cases and the plaintiffs’ weighty arguments on the merits—the Court should not forget the burden the Government must carry to obtain a stay. To warrant this “‘extraordinary’” relief, Williams v. Zbaraz, 442 U. S. 1309, 1316 (1979) (Stevens, J., in chambers), it is not enough for a party to point to an important legal issue, or even one that is likely to obtain the assent of five Justices on the merits (which is far from certain here). Instead, to justify upending the normal rules of appellate procedure, a party must also show a likelihood of irreparable harm. Packwood v. Senate Select Comm. on Ethics, 510 U. S. 1319, 1320 (1994) (Rehnquist, C. J., in chambers). And “[b]ecause this matter is pending before the Court of Appeals, and because the Court of Appeals denied” the Government’s motion for a stay, the Government now bears “an especially heavy burden.” Ibid.

SOTOMAYOR, J., dissenting

The Government has not made that showing here. Its public-charge rule is set to go into effect in 49 of 50 States next week. The Seventh Circuit is set to consider the Illinois-specific injunction next week as well, with a decision to follow shortly thereafter. And the Government is unable to articulate how many cases—if any—this narrow injunction would affect in the meantime. In sum, the Government’s only claimed hardship is that it must enforce an existing interpretation of an immigration rule in one State—just as it has done for the past 20 years—while an updated version of the rule takes effect in the remaining 49. The Government has not quantified or explained any burdens that would arise from this state of the world. Indeed, until this Court granted relief in the New York cases, the Government itself did not consider this Illinois-specific harm serious enough to warrant asking this Court for relief.

These facts—all of which undermine the Government’s assertion of irreparable harm—show two things, one about the Government’s conduct and one about this Court’s own. First, the Government has come to treat “th[e] exceptional mechanism” of stay relief “as a new normal.” Barr v. East Bay Sanctuary Covenant, 588 U. S. ____, ____ (2019) (SOTOMAYOR, J., dissenting from grant of stay) (slip op., at 5). Claiming one emergency after another, the Government has recently sought stays in an unprecedented number of cases, demanding immediate attention and consuming limited Court resources in each. And with each successive application, of course, its cries of urgency ring increasingly hollow. Indeed, its behavior relating to the public-charge rule in particular shows how much its own definition of irreparable harm has shifted. Having first sought a stay in the New York cases based, in large part, on the purported harm created by a nationwide injunction, it now disclaims that rationale and insists that the harm is its temporary inability to enforce its goals in one State.

Second, this Court is partly to blame for the breakdown in the appellate process. That is because the Court—in this case, the New York cases, and many others—has been all too quick to grant the Government’s “reflexiv[e]” requests. Ibid. But make no mistake: Such a shift in the Court’s own behavior comes at a cost.

Stay applications force the Court to consider important statutory and constitutional questions that have not been ventilated fully in the lower courts, on abbreviated timetables and without oral argument. They upend the normal appellate process, putting a thumb on the scale in favor of the party that won a stay. (Here, the Government touts that in granting a stay in the New York cases, this Court “necessarily concluded that if the court of appeals were to uphold the preliminary injunctio[n], the Court likely would grant a petition for a writ of certiorari” and that “there was a fair prospect the Court would rule in favor of the government.” Application 3.) They demand extensive time and resources when the Court’s intervention may well be unnecessary—particularly when, as here, a court of appeals is poised to decide the issue for itself.

Perhaps most troublingly, the Court’s recent behavior on stay applications has benefited one litigant over all others. This Court often permits executions—where the risk of irreparable harm is the loss of life—to proceed, justifying many of those decisions on purported failures “to raise any potentially meritorious claims in a timely manner.” Murphy v. Collier, 587 U. S. ___, ___ (2019) (second statement of KAVANAUGH, J.) (slip op., at 4); see also id., at ___ (ALITO, J., joined by THOMAS and GORSUCH, JJ., dissenting from grant of stay) (slip op., at 6) (“When courts do not have adequate time to consider a claim, the decisionmaking process may be compromised”); cf. Dunn v. Ray, 586 U. S. ____ (2019) (overturning the grant of a stay of execution). Yet the Court’s concerns over quick decisions wither when prodded by the Government in far less compelling circumstances—where the Government itself chose to wait to seek relief, and where its claimed harm is continuation of a 20-year status quo in one State. I fear that this disparity in treatment erodes the fair and balanced decisionmaking process that this Court must strive to protect.

SOTOMAYOR, J., dissenting

I respectfully dissent.

RE: In Re Wallace

Dear Mr. Wallace:

The above-entitled petition for an extraordinary writ of mandamus/prohibition was received on December 2, 2019. The papers are returned for the following reason(s):

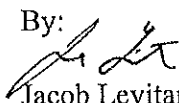

The petition does not follow the form prescribed by Rule 14 as required by Rule 20.2.

The petition does not show how the writ will be in aid of the Court's appellate jurisdiction, what exceptional circumstances warrant the exercise of the Court's discretionary powers, and why adequate relief cannot be obtained in any other form or from any other court. Rule 20.1.

A copy of the corrected petition must be served on opposing counsel.

Sincerely,
Scott S. Harris, Clerk

Joan Godlove

Sun, 08/31/2014 - 1:45am Staff

Word has been received of the death of Joan Godlove, 75, Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Godlove passed away peacefully Saturday, Aug. 30, 2014, in Oklahoma City.

The family celebrated Joan's life in a private gathering at the home of Amanda and Keith Erwin.

She was born May 2, 1939, at the Fort Sill Indian Hospital in Lawton to Mary Virginia Dunlap and William Woolsey Godlove.

She earned a Bachelor of Arts in Zoology in 1961 from Duke University in Durham, N.C.; a Masters of Science in Medical Art in 1964 from the Medical School of Georgia in Augusta, Ga.; and a Juris Doctorate summa cum laude in 1977 from the Indiana School of Law in Indianapolis, Ind.

Joan was employed as a medical illustrator at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.; at the Medical School of Georgia; and at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas from 1964 through 1974. Beginning in 1977, Joan practiced law in Rochester, Minn., Indianapolis and Evansville, Ind., and Tulsa.

She was a gifted artist, an avid golfer, loved traveling and was a frequent visitor to museums and art galleries. She will be especially remembered for her intellect, tenacity and commitment to challenge injustice and her love and compassion for friends and family. Joan possessed a joyful spirit that brightened the lives of those she touched.

Survivors include a brother and sister-in-law, Ernest and Jane Godlove, Lawton; a brother and sister-in-law, James and Mary Jane Godlove, Vienna Va.; a sister, Susan Godlove, Lawton; nephews and nieces: Chris Godlove and Julien Hartley, Washington, D.C.; Amanda and Keith Erwin of Edmond; Brian and Pamela Godlove, Fairfax, Va.; and Rebecca Godlove, Pacific Palisades, Calif.; and grand nephews and nieces: Joseph and Molly Erwin, Oklahoma City, and Brooke and Carter Godlove, Fairfax, Va.

She was preceded in death by her parents.

Memorial contributions are welcome in support of the Integris Hospice House 13920 Quallbrook Drive, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73116 and the Philbrook Gardens 2727 South Rookford Road, Tulsa, Oklahoma 74114.

Joan's family would like to express their appreciation to the staff and volunteers at Integris Hospice House for their care and attention to make Joan's final days comfortable and peaceful.

An online guest book and sympathy cards are available at www.beckerfuneral.com.

Dear Mr. Wallace:

Thank you for forwarding a copy of the letter you sent to Senator Orrin Hatch and Senator James Talent regarding judicial corruption. I certainly appreciate your taking the time to share this information with me.

Even though I return to the state almost every weekend, I do not always have the opportunity to listen to everyone's ideas, concerns, and problems. These are always important, as they are the building blocks of Oklahoma's representation here in Washington. When you share these letters with me, you are sharing them with Congress and, in turn, the nation. Be assured that I will continue to monitor the situation you outlined in your letter. Please keep me updated regarding this situation.

Please feel free to continue sharing letters such as these with me in the future.

Sincerely,

James M. Inhofe

Judicial tyranny

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

In common law Judicial tyranny is a common law felony with a substantial prison sentence and fine. It is a subset of obstruction of justice. Judicial tyranny is malfeasance, misfeasance or nonfeasance by a judge, and includes actions under color of law that exceed his jurisdiction, abuse his discretion, or are the result of bribery, intimidation, or cronyism. It is rarely prosecuted as professional prosecutors and attorney generals have prosecutorial discretion. It was more often prosecuted when the courts and grand juries were open to private prosecutions. However, failure to prosecute is also obstruction of justice. It would require appointment of a special prosecutor by the executive or legislative branch to prosecute obstruction of justice by a network involving the judiciary and prosecutor or attorney general.

The term Judicial tyranny is also political epithet often used to describe the actions of unelected judges whose rulings unlawfully validate or invalidate the policy decisions made by elected officials, unlawfully sustain or overrule enacted statutes or court precedents, or violate a constitution. Some political rhetoric imprecisely uses the phrase synonymously with judicial activism, but the terms have had different meaning. In debates today, however, their meanings are often conflated, especially in conservative circles. The phrase is generally traced back to a comment in a letter by Thomas Jefferson, referring to the "despotism" of Federalist federal judges (in particular, John Marshall) who continued to hold office as their political party was fading away.

Judicial tyranny, as used today in conservative circles, represents a form of judicial interpretation which results in case law which does not follow precedent or which exceeds the scope of established law, and can be contrasted with judicial restraint. The extent to which the decisions of judges are sometimes characterised as "tyrannical" has led to ongoing controversy over the appropriate role and function of the judiciary, notably in the United States, Australia and Canada.

Conservative opponents of judicial tyranny contend that the judiciary must not create new law when resolving disputes or interpreting the law. They argue that the law-making role is strictly the preserve of the legislature, and that when judges venture into this role, they make rulings on the basis of personal convictions or some other inappropriate ground.

Many liberal activists do not agree that judicial tyranny, as the term is used by conservatives, exists today, but may regard other practices of judges as judicial tyranny. Those of a more liberal bent argue that the role of the judiciary under the doctrine of the separation of powers will sometimes necessarily result in decisions which go beyond established law, and that this serves as a useful and desirable safeguard against majoritarianism. They also question the opprobrium associated with the term, seeing it as an example of loaded language which contains the unstated and uncritical assumption that the judiciary must never create new law when interpreting it.

Libertarian critics who use the term generally focus on decisions that sustain what they consider usurped powers of government, and applaud decisions that sustain rights of individuals against the actions of officials. Their usage is similar to that of constitutionalist or originalist critics who find judges deviating from compliance with a state or federal constitution as originally understood, based on historical evidence.

There are also critics, not identified with any political persuasion, who use the term in clc

United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit

MISCELLANEOUS DOCKET NO. 855

IN RE STEPHAN PAUL WALLACE,

Petitioner.

ON PETITION FOR WRIT OF MANDAMUS

Before NEWMAN, Circuit Judge.

ORDER

Stephan Paul Wallace petitions for a writ of mandamus. We consider whether Wallace's petition should be construed as a notice of appeal. Wallace also moves for leave to proceed in forma pauperis.

Wallace filed a complaint in the United States Court of Federal Claims, alleging, among other things, that his bankruptcy proceeding amounted to an unlawful taking of his property. The Court of Federal Claims dismissed Wallace's complaint on the grounds that it lacked jurisdiction to review a determination of another federal court. This petition for writ of mandamus followed.

Although Wallace's petition is clearly intended as a request for relief in the form of a writ of mandamus, the court has broad discretion to consider whether such filing constitutes a notice of appeal. See Smith v. Barry, 502 U.S. 244, 248 (1992) (holding that courts should look at the notice afforded by a document rather than a litigant's motivation in filing to determine whether a document constitutes a notice of appeal).

In order to appeal a judgment of the Court of Federal Claims, the party seeking appeal must file notice that sets forth (1) the name of each party to the proceeding, (2) the judgment, order, or part, thereof being appealed, and (3) the name of the court to which the appeal is taken. Rule 3(c) of the Rules of Appellate Procedure (FRAP); see also Rule 58.1 of the United States Court of Federal Claims (incorporating requirements of Rule 3(c) of FRAP). Wallace's petition clearly meets these requirements. In addition, Wallace's petition was timely if treated as a notice of appeal. See Rule 4(a)(1)(B) of FRAP.

Because we conclude that the petition should be construed as a timely notice of appeal, mandamus relief is not appropriate. See Mallard v. U.S. Dist. Court for the Southern Dist. of Iowa, 490 U.S. 296, 309 (1989) (holding that a party seeking a writ bears the burden of proving that it has no other means of attaining the relief, such as by appeal); Bankers Life & Casualty Co. v. Holland, 346 U.S. 379, 383 (1953) (stating "whatever may be done without the writ may not be done with it.").

Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED THAT:

- (1) The petition for a writ of mandamus is to be treated as a notice of appeal. The clerk is directed to docket the case as an appeal.
- (2) Wallace's brief is due within 21 days from filing of this order (form enclosed).
- (3) Wallace's motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis is granted.

Private attorney general

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Private attorney general is an informal term usually used today in the United States to refer to a private party who brings a lawsuit considered to be in the public interest, i.e., benefiting the general public and not just the plaintiff.^[1] The person considered "private attorney general" is entitled to recover attorney's fees if he or she prevails. The rationale behind this principle is to provide extra incentive to private citizens to pursue suits that may be of benefit to society at large. X

Examples of application

Many civil rights statutes rely on private attorneys general for their enforcement. In Newman v. Piggie Park Enterprises,^[2] one of the earliest cases construing the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the United States Supreme Court ruled that "A public accommodations suit is thus private in form only. When a plaintiff brings an action . . . he cannot recover damages. If he obtains an injunction, he does so not for himself alone but also as a 'private attorney general,' vindicating a policy that Congress considered of the highest priority." The United States Congress has also passed laws with "private attorney general" provisions that provide for the enforcement of laws prohibiting employment discrimination, police brutality, and water pollution. Under the Clean Water Act, for example, "any citizen" may bring suit against an individual or a company that is a source of water pollution.^[citation needed]

Another example of the "private attorney general" provisions is the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO). RICO allows average citizens (private attorneys general) to sue those organizations that commit mail and wire fraud as part of their criminal enterprise.^[citation needed] To date, there are over 60 federal statutes^[citation needed] that encourage private enforcement by allowing prevailing plaintiffs to collect attorney's fees. X

Attorneys who function as a private attorney general do so without compensation. The statutes permitting a plaintiff to recover attorneys' fees have been held not to apply when the plaintiff is an attorney.

Civil Rights Attorney's Fees Award Act

The U.S. Congress codified the private attorney general principle into law with the enactment of Civil Rights Attorney's Fees Award Act of 1976, 42 U.S.C. § 1988 (<http://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/42/1988.html>). The Senate Report on this statute stated that The Senate Committee on the Judiciary

Pro Se Law

HAINES v. KERNER, ET AL. 404 U.S. 519, 92 S. Ct. 594, 30 L. Ed. 2d 652. Whatever may be the limits on the scope of inquiry of courts into the internal administration of prisons, allegations such as those asserted by petitioner, however inartfully pleaded, are sufficient to call for the opportunity to offer supporting evidence. We cannot say with assurance that under the allegations of the pro se complaint, which we hold to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers, it appears "beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief." Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 45-46 (1957). See Dioguardi v. Durning, 139 F.2d 774 (CA2 1944).

ESTELLE, CORRECTIONS DIRECTOR, ET AL. v. GAMBLE 29 U.S. 97, 97 S. Ct. 285, 50 L. Ed. 2d 251. We now consider whether respondent's complaint states a cognizable 1983 claim. The handwritten pro se document is to be liberally construed. As the Court unanimously held in Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972), a pro se complaint, "however inartfully pleaded," must be held to "less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers" and can only be dismissed for failure to state a claim if it appears "beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief." Id., at 520-521, quoting Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 45-46 (1957).

WILLIAM MCNEIL, PETITIONER v. UNITED STATES 113 S. Ct. 1980, 124 L. Ed. 2d 21, 61 U.S.L.W. 4468. Moreover, given the clarity of the statutory text, it is certainly not a "trap for the unwary." It is no doubt true that there are cases in which a litigant proceeding without counsel may make a fatal procedural error, but the risk that a lawyer will be unable to understand the exhaustion requirement is virtually nonexistent. Our rules of procedure are based on the assumption that litigation is normally conducted by lawyers. While we have insisted that the pleadings prepared by prisoners who do not have access to counsel be liberally construed, see Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 106 (1976), and have held that some procedural rules must give way because of the unique circumstance of incarceration, see Houston v. Lack, 487 U.S. 266 (1988) (pro se prisoner's notice of appeal deemed filed at time of delivery to prison authorities), we have never suggested that procedural rules in ordinary civil litigation should be interpreted so as to excuse mistakes by those who proceed without counsel. As we have noted before, "in the long run, experience teaches that strict adherence to the procedural requirements specified by the legislature is the best guarantee of evenhanded administration of the law." Mohasco Corp. v. Silver, 447 U.S. 807, 826 (1980).

BALDWIN COUNTY WELCOME CENTER v. BROWN 466 U.S. 147, 104 S. Ct. 1723, 80 L. Ed. 2d 196, 52 U.S.L.W. 3751. Rule 8(f) provides that "pleadings shall be so construed as to do substantial justice." We frequently have stated that pro se pleadings are to be given a liberal construction.

HUGHES v. ROWE ET AL. 449 U.S. 5, 101 S. Ct. 173, 66 L. Ed. 2d 163, 49 U.S.L.W. 3346. Petitioner's complaint, like most prisoner complaints filed in the Northern District of Illinois, was not prepared by counsel. It is settled law that the allegations of such a complaint, "however inartfully pleaded" are held "to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers, see Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520 (1972). See also Maclin v. Paulson, 627 F.2d 83, 86 (CA7 1980); French v. Heyne, 547 F.2d 994, 996 (CA7 1976). Such a complaint should not be dismissed for failure to state a claim unless it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief. Haines, supra, at 520-521. And, of course, the allegations of the complaint are generally taken as true for purposes of a motion to dismiss. Cruz v. Beto, 405 U.S. 319, 322 (1972).

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO
WESTERN DIVISION

STATE OF OHIO,

Plaintiff,

v.

Case No. 1:21-cv-181
JUDGE DOUGLAS R. COLE

SECRETARY, DEPARTMENT OF
TREASURY, et al.

Defendants.

ORDER

This cause comes before the Court on Stephen Wallace's pro se Emergency Motion to Intervene (Doc. 7). As best the Court can tell, Wallace seeks intervenor status (1) to challenge Congress's allegedly wrongful expenditure of federal funds, and (2) to procure a protective order with witness protection. For the reasons set forth below, the Court finds that Wallace has not shown that the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure warrant granting him intervenor status. Thus, the Court DENIES Wallace's Motion.

BACKGROUND

Plaintiff State of Ohio ("Ohio") filed this suit to challenge an allegedly unconstitutional provision, which Ohio labels the "Tax Mandate," in the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021. (Compl., Doc. 1, PageID #2). Under the Tax Mandate, the federal funds provided to Ohio could not be "directly or indirectly" used to offset a "reduction in net tax revenue." (Id.). Ohio believes that this condition, tied to $5.5 billion issued to alleviate economic damage caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, exceeds Congress's Spending Clause authority. That is because the provision's allegedly coercive nature offers Ohio "no real choice" but to accept the money and concomitant tax policy restrictions. (Id. at 9). Ohio also alleges that the Tax Mandate violates the Tenth Amendment by flouting the anti-commandeering doctrine. (Id. at 10). On March 17, 2021, Ohio moved for a preliminary injunction enjoining enforcement of the Tax Mandate. (See generally Pl.'s Mot. for Prelim. Inj., Doc. 25).

On March 24, 2021, Wallace filed the instant Emergency Motion to Intervene. Although somewhat difficult to follow, Wallace's Motion appears to allege misappropriation of taxpayer funds in relation to the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021, and also asserts a potential conspiracy through which Wallace has been "Stalked for Abduction & Termination" by government officials. (Mot. to Intervene, Doc. 7, PageID #59–60). Appealing to "the Interest of Justice" and the "National Security of our Republic," Wallace seeks a protective order and witness protection along with his challenge to federal disbursement of federal funds. (Id. at #60–61).

LAW AND ANALYSIS

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24 governs motions to intervene. Providence Baptist Church v. Hillandale Comm., Ltd., 245 F.3d 308, 315 (6th Cir. 2005). That rule recognizes two types of intervention: intervention of right and permissive intervention. As Wallace has not identified which type of intervention he seeks, the Court considers both possibilities in turn.

Let's begin with intervention of right. Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a), courts "must permit" intervention of right if either (1) a federal statute gives the movant “an unconditional right to intervene,” or (2) the movant “claims an interest relating to the property or transaction that is the subjection of the action, and is so situated that disposing of the action may as a practical matter impair or impede the movant’s ability to protect its interest, unless existing parties adequately represent that interest.” In other words, courts must grant intervenor status to anyone who satisfies either element of Rule 24(a). But Wallace stumbles along both paths to intervention of right. As to the federal statute issue, Wallace cites no federal statute giving him a right to intervene in this matter and, to the Court’s knowledge, no statute would do so. So that means Wallace must identify an interest in “the property or transaction that is the subject” of Ohio’s lawsuit, or else he cannot secure intervention of right.

Here, the only interest Wallace conceivably alleges that relates to the subject of Ohio’s lawsuit, i.e., the constitutionality of the Tax Mandate, is his generalized interest as a citizen and taxpayer in Congress’s proper disbursement of government funds. But that is a nonstarter given the taxpayer standing doctrine. “As a general matter, the interest of a federal taxpayer in seeing that Treasury funds are spent in accordance with the Constitution does not give rise to the kind of redressable ‘personal injury’ required for Article III standing.” Hein v. Freedom From Religion Found., Inc., 551 U.S. 587, 599 (2007). Here, Wallace fails to assert any interest in Ohio’s suit that goes beyond “the interests of the public at large” in ensuring that tax money is spent wisely and lawfully. Id. at 601. And that interest does not permit him entry into Ohio’s lawsuit. See Ark Encounter, LLC v. Stewart, 311 F.R.D. 414, 419

(E.D. Ky. 2015) (reasoning that “any taxpayer’s generalized concern about the use of their tax dollars” does not support a would-be intervenor’s “substantial legal interest” in a suit). Thus, Wallace has no viable interest in Ohio’s lawsuit that supports intervention of right.

That leaves permissive intervention. As the term suggests, the Court may employ its discretion to grant intervenor status under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(b), but it is by no means compelled to do so. Rule 24(b) allows courts to grant permissive intervention to a movant who either (1) “is given a conditional right to intervene by a federal statute,” or (2) “has a claim or defense that shares with the main action a common question of law or fact.” Wallace fails to satisfy either ground for permissive intervention for the same reasons discussed above. First, he cites no federal statute providing a conditional right to intervene. Second, Wallace’s only claim that relates to Ohio’s suit is his allegation that the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 has unlawfully appropriated funds. Even if the Court were inclined to exercise its discretion and permit Wallace to intervene, the taxpayer standing doctrine would squarely preclude Wallace from joining Ohio’s action based solely on his interest as a federal taxpayer in seeing government money spent in line with the Constitution.

As for his other allegations, Wallace is certainly free to file a separate complaint addressing any alleged “stalking” or other government plots against him. But his concerns in that regard do not raise issues relating to the constitutional challenge that Ohio mounts against the Tax Mandate in this action.¹ Thus such allegations do not support intervention here. Accordingly, the Court DENIES Wallace's Motion (Doc. 7).

should he be executed by government-employed hitmen. (Id. at #80). It appears that Wallace wishes to assign any potential “relator recovery” funds to the Knights of Columbus. (Id.). As with Wallace’s Emergency Motion, the concerns expressed in this Supplement do not touch on Ohio’s challenge to the Tax Mandate. Accordingly, any rights Wallace wishes to preserve relating to his stalking claim would be better addressed in a matter separate from Ohio’s case.

AG YOST: <Urgent Action Required>

<1st PDF of 2> Since I last communicated with your TEAM, enclosed is my continued relentless quest to now Join Arizona, Pennsylvania & Georgia in securing Forensic Audits described herein, which would also earn OHIO a "Preferred Priority Distribution" of the Clawed-Back Funds certified in the Forensic Audits.

Only your Office has the STANDING, per Duty & Oaths of Office, to Intervene, sua sponte & instanter, "before certain RECONCILLATION & STACKING the US SUPREME COURT", to FILE the WRIT of Mandamus to seek a "Temporary STAY" of the INFRASTRUCTURE [BILL], pending "BDO USA LLC's Forensic Audit of the 2009 RECOVERY ACT Infrastructure [BILL] for SHOVEL-READY JOBS" ?

I hereby agree to grant you my Limited Power of Attorney to Join me, per my Standing in Ohio DENIAL to INTERVENE, after Granting, to the Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, under "NATIONAL SECURITY from the VOLUNTARY US BANKRUPTCY AGENDA being perpetrated, "under color of Law". The underlying DC Case has been DENIED a WRIT of MMANDEMUS be Filed @ US Supreme Court [3 times] by the Deputy Clerk of RECORD.

Said VERIFICATION of DENIALS will be sent as <2nd PDF of 2> next. Please reply to all Recipient's your timely CRITICAL DECISION. Stephen Wallace, Co-Petitioner with OHIO

Ohio GOP Chairman Bob c/o Justin & Tricia: <URGENT>

Bob, relentlessly pursued counsel to take the underlying DC CASE cited herein to the US Supreme Court for a WRIT of Mandamus, "BEFORE RECESS", but unsuccessful !

However, will the OHIO GOP Join "USA, ex rel., Ohio GOP & Stephen Wallace, Private Attorney General/Relator, and all Ohio Taxpayers similarly situated", in Filing the WRIT of MANDEMUS to the US Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit in Cincinnati, "under National Security", for a Temporary Stay of the INFRASTRUCTURE [BILL] coming via RECONCILIATION, with Circuit ORDER that "BDO USA LLC" complete the Forensic Audit of the alleged Misappropriations of the "2009 RECOVERY ACT" $900 Billion for "SHOVEL-READY INFRASTRUCTURE JOBS" !!!

Ohio GOP Counsel should [E-FILE] the WRIT from my INTERVENTION being DENIED, after Granting ? I give you the Limited Power of Attorney to Join me in the Capacities of RECORD !

Respectfully submitted, Stephen Wallace, relocated to Wellington, FL., after leaving Columbus @ (331) 575-2341 cell/text
